Successful Environmental Management and Good Construction

Doing the right thing doesn't need to hold back your programme or impact on your bottom line.

Join Industry professionals, SEPA, and SNH to learn from the best.

Thursday 26 April 2018, Battleby Conference Centre, Perth

- Chair: Civil Engineering Contractors Association (CECA) Scotland Ltd
- Who is it for? Contractors firms, Local Planning Authorities, Clerks of Works and Government Agencies
- What is it about? Developing a greater understanding of what is available to the construction industry to achieve successful environment management on site. This event is aimed at raising awareness of the complexities of this issue. It will strive to identify a route forward for all to maximise environmental protection and how construction can actually result in a net gain to biodiversity.
- In partnership with: SEPA, Association of Environmental & Ecological Clerks of Works and the Construction Industry (ICE, CECA and CITB).
- What will you gain from attending? Valuable networking opportunities. An opportunity to share experience and ideas, and to listen to contractors and advisors expressing messages that should lead to changes in behaviour to foster good practice. It will highlight that good practice saves money, saves time, protects reputation and keeps you lawful. Discussions around what interventions are required to bring about consistent good construction practices across Scotland will mix with a series of useful and topical presentations.
- Content: Sharing good practice examples
Tenders, contracts and procurement
Biodiversity Net Gain
Communication strategies
The regulators perspective
Engineering question time
- Times: The event will start at 09:30 (coffee and registration at 09:00) and finish at 16:15
